To Whom It May Concern:

Moscow Nights performed for the students of Brookside Elementary School today. As the principal of Brookside, I was able to introduce them and watch two performances with our 500 students. Brookside's students are in grades K-5 (ages 5 years to 11 years old). Students at every grade level enjoyed Moscow Nights.

The music was lively and it was very interesting to see how different the musical instruments from Russia compare to those used in America. Many children had never seen a balalaika before today. Not only did the children enjoy the music, it was also fun for them to learn a few words of Russian.

The favorite part for our students was getting to use some Russian musical instruments such as the spoons. Everyone was smiling when they played their "solos" and tried to clap and dance to the songs. This assembly was enjoyed by us all.

Spaseebo balshoeye!!

Sincerely,

Debra Burgher
